Colonial Cruise, May Day Festivities Highlight Annual Spring Weekend

A TGIF FRIDAY afternoon at the SPE House will get Colonial Cruise weekend off to a smashing start. Close on the heels of the TGIF is the annual May Day Program Friday evening in Lisner Auditorium at 8 pm. Then Saturday comes the cruise itself, climaxing what has all the ingredients of being a very successful first annual GW Spring Weekend.

Saturday the boat, the SS Mount Vernon, will leave from Pier 4 at Maine and 5th avenue at 2 pm. During the boat ride, 2 to 3:30, Leroy and the Quintones will provide music for dancing.

Highlighting activities planned for the afternoon at Marshall Hall are a student-faculty softball game and a boy-girl volleyball game. In addition, Marshall Hall has many amusements and rides.

Several girls from Angel Flight, the women's branch of the ROTC, will be available to take care of any children brought along.

The order of the day is BYOL, and it is also suggested that Colonials bring along their own lunches, although there are concession stands at the Park.

From 6 to 10 pm there will be dancing at the Center Pavilion for Colonials. A brief program will also take place at the Pavilion.

The boat will leave Marshall Hall at 10:30 pm. The liner will provide its own band for dancing on the return trip. For those wishing to return earlier, and particularly for those with small children, a boat will leave there at 8:30 pm.

Tickets for Colonial Cruise are on sale in the Student Union and in the Student Activities Offices. Tickets are $1.50 without Campus Combo, and free with Combo; $1.25 for alumni and 75 cents for children under 12.

• THE QUEEN OF the May and a host of school leaders will be elected, tapped, and announced, at the annual May Day Program, May 1, in Lisner auditorium. Voting among the three finalists for Queen, Arlene Keyorkian, Jan Larkins and Joyce Ormsby will take place Thursday and Friday, May 3 and 4.

Dancer, Poet Lecture Here

• THE CULTURAL Foundation of the George Washington University, in conjunction with the Fourth Annual Congress of the Institute of Contemporary Arts is presenting a series of lectures in Lisner Auditorium. Following Wojciech Fangor's comments on "American Style and European Paintings," Nadia Boulanger's lectures on "Music as an International Tradition," and Kathleen Raine's lecture on "Western Tradition and American Letters," will be Jose Limon and Stephen Spender.

Jose Limon is a world-renowned US choreographer and dancer. He will lecture on "International Sources of American Dance."

Stephen Spender, the European poet, critic, and editor of Encounter, will lecture on "The Universal: Arts or the Artist." Mr. Spender was born in London and has been called "truly representative of his generation." Once a young radical poet allied with the Communist Party, he has become a mature artist. His book The God That Failed explains his complete disillusionment with communism. His latest volume of poetry was published in 1955.

The joint lectures of Mr. Limon and Mr. Spender will be held at 8:30 May 1 in Lisner Auditorium. Free tickets may be picked up in the Student Activities office.

At the awards program announcement will be made of new Student Council officers and HATCHET and Cherry Tree staffs for the coming year will be named. Tapping for Mortar Board, Order of Scarlet, and ODK will highlight a vast program of award-making.

An innovation this year is the Don Carlos Faith award to the outstanding IFC member. Other standouts will be the top freshman, sophomore, junior and senior women and male seniors, and the outstanding Order of Scarlet member.

Other presentations will include the Booster Cup awards, Andy Davis trophy, and the intramural forensics trophies.

Announcement will be made of new IFC officers, and SC certificates of appreciation will be awarded.

Musical interludes in program will be a dance to honor the queen performed by a member of the Dance Production group, and a selection from Brigadoon by a Glee Club ensemble. The Meridian Quartet will provide music throughout the program.

Fulbright Winner

• THE DEPARTMENT of State has awarded Rhoda Miller, University student, a Fulbright grant to pursue studies in French Literature at the University of Dijon, in France, next year.

33 Run For Office; 5 Seats Uncontested

• ON ELECTION-EVE only five of seventeen Student Council offices went uncontested. This bettered by half the record last year, when over half of the offices went unopposed and the candidates were assured a Council position merely for the trouble of petitioning.

When petitioning closed on Thursday, only Linda Sennett stood unopposed in her bid for the Secretary's office, the position which she holds on the current Council. Between the closing of petitioning and the Election Forum on Monday evening, four other candidates withdrew their petitions making the elections of five candidates automatic.

Don Ardell was opposed by Marvin Waldman and Peter Gallagher, both of whom withdrew. Gallagher will be graduating in February and decided that the extra semester he would have to remain at the University in order to fill out the term of president would be too much of a burden.

Ray Lupo, vice presidential candidate, found himself unopposed when Dave Saunders withdrew late Friday afternoon.

Two school offices will be no-contest races. The School of Education representative post went to Mimi Plaut by default when Kevin Kelley withdrew from the race and Alan Jones wrapped up the Upper Division Columbian College post when Mindy Maloney decided not to run.

These five were joined by five cided not to run for Program Director and Kate Buddy, Kathy Klaus and Peggy Simes all opted out of the Lower Division Columbian College representative running.

President

Don Ardell presented five main planks in his election platform. While in office next year his aims are:

- To reestablish campus political parties with adequate safeguards to prevent them from being dominated by any one group.
- To push for the adoption of Council elections in February instead of the present system of May elections.
- To give the student body more voice in Council affairs by submitting more issues to referendum votes.
- To hold Council meetings closed to the public.
- To encourage Council resolutions on national issues which have a connection with University affairs.

Ardell also favors the adoption of an activities fee to make more money available for student activities. He favors a limited system of co-chairmen for activities with only Homecoming and Combo having dual heads. On the issue of students being paid for their participation in student activities through advertising commissions or profit sharing, Ardell expressed the opinion that this should be limited as much as is feasible. Since the system has been in operation for such a long time, he commented, it would be difficult, although desirable, to abolish all paying positions held by students in University activities.

Vice President

Vice President-elect Ray Lupo will propose an investigation of the possibility of integrating athletics at the University when he takes office. Lupo feels the University is missing out on some excellent athletic talent by the restrictions the Southern Conference places on its teams. He would like to see more authority given to the Council by the administration, which could be accomplished by the Council's demonstration of its capability. As ex-officio member of all Council committees, the vice president acts as a check and supervisor on committee efficiency. Lupo proposes to activate this function of the vice president in order to ensure better and more efficient Council action.

ROTC Annual Review Parade

• CULMINATING LONG weeks of practice, the University's 140th AFROTC Cadet Corps will parade in West Potomac Park in its annual Review, May 2, at 12:50 pm.

Highlighting the Review will be the presentation of awards. Lawrence B. Anderson will receive, from Provost Oswald B. Colcough, the Air Force Association Silver Medal and Ronald Pump will be named Outstanding Basic Cadet. Colonel Edward M. Wall, professor of Air Science, will present this award. Other award winners will include Reserve Officers' Association medalists Richard T. Grimes, Chester Wilson, and Samuel Bate, who will receive their ecomiums from Dean Latimer, and winners of the Chicago Tribune medal, Douglas Gates and Marc Santacroce.

Pershing Rifles Achievement

Medals will be presented to Terrence Hall, Peyton Kerr III, and Richard Stotler. Jessica Byczynski, outstanding Angel, will receive the President's Medallion from Dr. Virginia Kirkbride, while Seymour Volkman will be the recipient of the Sons of the American Revolution medal.

Further recognition will go to Dargan Marc who will get the Air Force Times Award, John Boyle and Robert Dalley who will receive the Convair Cadet Award, and new Reserve Officers' Association junior members, Stewart Bentley, Robert Black, Luther Jones, Bohdan Wenglowski, and Charles Putney. Howard Wen will be named Outstanding Squad Leader.

Angel Flight will give an exhibition drill and an Air Force Band will play. All University students and faculty members are invited to view the proceedings.

Editorial

• THE HATCHET BOARD of Editors interviewed 32 candidates for Student Council offices last weekend. The candidates presented their platforms and were questioned on specific parts of their programs, how they would implement their programs, and their stand on current Council issues. From these interviews, the three editors unanimously selected candidates to be recommended or endorsed as particularly well versed in the problems of the office they seek, the issues confronting the Council and generally active and experienced in Student Activities.

Comptroller

• Both Marty Gersten and Ira Schandler have a long and successful record in student activities and appear qualified for the position of Comptroller. But the difference is in the degree of qualification. Mr. Gersten has been Comptroller or Business Manager of virtually every activity on campus. The job of Comptroller is to supervise, administer and plan the fiscal program of the Student Council and the various student activities. Although Mr. Gersten and Mr. Schandler both have an excellent grasp of functions and problems of the office, the HATCHET recommends Marty Gersten on the basis of his more extensive experience and his superior presentation at his interview.

The HATCHET endorses Marty Gersten.

Treasurer

• Neither Woodruff Bentley nor Othan Gilbert have been active participants in Campus affairs. But the HATCHET unqualifiedly recommended Woodruff Bentley on the basis of his past accounting experience, his understanding of the job of Treasurer and his presentation at his interview. Mr. Gilbert had no conception of what the office entailed. On the other hand, it seemed as if Mr. Bentley had done some preliminary investigation. He not only could promise to work hard but could tell us what he would work at.

The HATCHET endorses Woodruff Bentley.

Advocate

• Although he was inactive in campus activities this past year, Bob Aleshire has amassed a string of qualifications that would make any senior proud. He is perhaps the most qualified candidate running for Student Council office. Aside from his experience as a parliamentarian his ideas on the function and workings of the Student Council are fresh, vigorous, mature and pertinent. Fred Mather did not come to the candidates meeting or his HATCHET interview so that we are unable to make an accurate analysis of his program. But it appears that Mr. Aleshire is far and away the choice for Advocate.

The HATCHET endorses Bob Aleshire.

Member-At-Large

• None of the presentations for Member-At-Large were in any way effective or well prepared. Neither Steve Hanel nor Linda Stone were at all impressive. On the basis of past experience and overall qualifications, Linda Stone rates the endorsement. She has been General Chairman of the Cultural Foundation, varsity debater for two years and consistently a Dean's List student. She has also proxied at Student Council meetings. Since both presentations were weak, qualifications are the deciding factor. Miss Sherry Peterson did not attend her HATCHET interview.

The HATCHET endorses Linda Stone.

Activities Director

• Jeff Hoffman is well suited to the job of Activities Director since he has participated directly in most of the major activities on campus — Student Council for a short term to fill a resignation vacancy, Homecoming, Campus Combo, Hi-Ball, Mardi Gras, Colonial Cruise and Student Directory. Bill Dierks' experience working in the activities he would be supervising as Activities Director is limited to fraternity, Young Republicans, Student Directory and Campus Combo. Mr. Hoffman has been instrumental in the formulation of a workable activities fee proposal and in his short term in Council office, has shown himself to be a capable Council member. Because of his wider experience in Council matters, Mr. Hoffman's platform is better thought-out and presented than Mr. Dierks'.

The HATCHET endorses Jeff Hoffman.

Program Director

• Once again the difference between the candidates is one of degree of qualifications and presentation. Harold Levy took the strongest position for empowering the Program Director to determine the activity which would be allowed to present its program if a conflict arose. Mr. Levy in effect advocated giving the Program Director, with the support of the Student Council and the Student Life Committee, a veto over the programming of activities. This was the reason for selecting Levy over John Diesem. Both appear extremely qualified for the position. Leah Figelman seems the least qualified and had the least effective presentation of the three, plus the disadvantage she has of not being in town during the summer when all of the work of the Program Director is completed.

The HATCHET endorses Harold Levy.

Publicity Director

• It's a toss-up between Lee Deschamps and Paul Schwab for Publicity Director. Mr. Schwab has been Publicity Director of a number of activities — Homecoming, Combo and Old Men, however his performance in these jobs has been only sporadically good. Mr. Deschamps qualifications rest on his fraternity offices — pledge class president, house manager, treasurer and vice president, however, the job of publicity director is not particularly difficult nor does it particularly require much experience in the field. Both Mr. Deschamps and Mr. Schwab are scholarship holders.

Freshman Director

• Neither Richard Zellner or Ken Rietz appear well qualified for Freshman Director in that neither have a clear idea of what the problems of orientation are or specifically how they would go about alleviating such problems or adding new features. The HATCHET picks Mr. Rietz over Mr. Zellner because Mr. Rietz will be in the area during the summer when the Freshman Director does all of his work. Mr. Zellner will only be in the area occasionally during the summer and would have to do his work through a proxy or by letter if he were elected. Mr. Zellner and Mr. Rietz are about equally qualified from previous participation in student activities.

The HATCHET endorses Ken Rietz.

Student Union Board Chairman

• Mr. Schaeffer has the advantage over his opponent, Miss Allen, because he has served on the Student Union Board. His experience, plus his presentation of a balanced and well thought-out program make him the more qualified of the candidates. The Student Union Board Chairman is not a large or time consuming job, but it is one which requires a familiarity with the problems and limitations of the Union and the channels open to suggestions for improvement. Miss Allen's main qualifications are sorority office and Booster Board participation. Her program for her tenure as a general member of Student Council is rather sketchy.

The HATCHET endorses Stephen Schaeffer.

School Of Government

• Neither Mr. Guterman nor Mr. Ross are good candidates from the standpoint of program and qualifications for office. However, Mr. Guterman has one major advantage over Mr. Ross. Mr. Ross tried his hand at Student Council office as Executive Director last year and did such an incompetent job of running the Activities Council that he was impeached by his fellow Council members. The impeachment was tabled since elections were only three weeks off at the time, however, now that Mr. Ross has decided to run for office again, it becomes a strong indictment of his candidacy. Mr. Gutman has a weak program and a hazy idea of how the Council functions, but has no previous failures on his record.

Engineering School Representative

• Both Allyn Kilsheimer and Cliff Stearns have been extremely active within the sphere of Engineering School programs. But it is the job of this representative to encourage the participation of engineering students in University affairs. In the past, this feeling of belonging to the University community has been sorely lacking. The Engineering School has virtually become a separate entity. By virtue of his participation in University activities as well as those in the Engineering School the HATCHET feels that Allyn Kilsheimer is more qualified to make the Engineering School into an integral and participating portion of the University.

The HATCHET endorses Allyn Kilsheimer.

Lower Division—Columbian College

• None of the three candidates have had extensive experience in student activities. Neither were any of them very well armed with facts and concrete programs to back up their proposals. On the basis of their relative presentations at their HATCHET interviews, Priscilla Bloom appears to be the most qualified. She has actively participated in more activities than either Sam Blate or Anita Lazar. The distinction is a slight one.

The HATCHET endorses Priscilla Bloom.

Letters To The Editor

Potomac Review

To the Editors:

The spring Potomac is a curious mixture that in balance doesn't measure up to the fall issue. This is especially true of the poetry. "October Saturday" has some good images but lacks unity and cohesion. "At the Van Gogh Exhibit" is fatiguingly unpleasant, and "Scattered Seed," while starting out well, ends doing exactly that.

The poems of Bill Grier on the other hand—particularly the last two—are rewarding. The sharp, clear truth of the five o'clock functionaries is fine, and the one that follows has that suspended, nagging validity that makes for that shake of irritation and simultaneous from-meaning the poet has made his point. A similar irritation, but without the former's precision, is felt in the jumbled cacophony of Barry Young's "Rock and Stream." "Intruder" has a nice kind of taut tenderness to it, and M. S.'s "Fragment" gives just enough to make the reader wish for the whole.

There are three pieces of prose in the issue. Of them, Dave Logan's "The Beard" seems by far the best. As an acetic vignette on conformity and frustration the tone, texture and characterization have just the right balance of healthy sickness that sums up the position of many a modern "hero."

"The Windmill," by Susan Mosher, misses. There is too little development of too much plot, and Kenneth's death is received with equanimity, without sympathy, or even much curiosity.

The longest piece in the Potomac is a story by Michael Kline called "Clint's Woman." It contains a good deal of subtlety and sensitivity but is marred by a lack of balance. Necessary detail is often provided—particularly in regard to setting and parts of Clint's mind—but just as often the fragile network of detail—upon which the story's effectiveness depends—is lacking. The significance of Clint's grotesque physique is left suspended, as is the significance behind the "things" that he destroys in the forest.

In sum, the contributions to the Potomac have an expected unevenness. It is safe to say that GW certainly is not lacking in literary talent, and the Potomac appears to be an excellent medium for its further refinement.

Activities Fee

To the Editors:

It has been proposed that the Student Council enact a $2 activities fee. As an engineering student, I would like to point out a few pertinent facts. 1) The Engineer's Council is funded by a fee of $1.50 per semester per engineering student. 2) The Engineer's Council more closely reflects the desires of the engineering students than does the Student Council because it is run for engineering students by engineering students. 3) The funds from the activities fee go to the support of Mechelev magazine, the Engineer's Ball (to which the whole campus was invited), Engineer's Days, and other social and service functions within the School of Engineering. 4) The School of Engineering is not enthusiastically considered the discontinuation of all these functions which would result if the $1.50 activities fee were dropped. 5) It would be asking quite a lot of students to have them pay $7 per year activities fee which would result from adding the Student Council's to the Engineer's Council's.

Mr. Stover Babcock lists among the justifications for the activities fee a need for a permanent Queen's float. Both last year and this, a few engineering students designed and built such a float on the assured conditions that the Student Council provide storage. We "crude mechanics" would like to know what has happened to both of those "permanent" floats.

It would be sporting of the Student Council to make sure it has the approval of a 3/4 majority of the student body before assessing it some twenty thousand dollars per year. Should such a proposal be defeated in a general referendum, it would also be very sporting of the Student Life Committee to abide by the decision of the student body, in contrast to its recent behavior.

Asst. Treasurer,
Engineer's Council.

Grades And Jobs

To the Editor:

Before my students are misled by the HATCHET article of March 13 that "there seems to be no correlation between the scholarship records and job performance records of college graduates in the creative, scientific, and engineering fields," a few comments may be in order.

Your article was based upon one in the February 24 issue of Business Week and failed to note some of the doubts of the original article. Also, that study cited for the Hughes Aircraft Company was based on only 99 individuals, and that for NASA on only 200.

In contrast, the business section of the Evening Star for April 16 carried a headline "Low Grades Put Hex on Graduates Applying for Jobs with AT&T," and the article reported that a recent study of 17,000 college graduates in the Bell System showed that rank in class is the most important single indicator for predicting success in the business. The authority for the statement was no less than the Chairman of the Board of AT&T, speaking at Westminster College in Fulton, Missouri.

So, perhaps preparing assignments properly and even doing more than is required by the instructor may not lead to rejection in the labor market, after all!

Young Ladies All

THE UNIVERSITY HATCHET, Tuesday, May 1, 1962-5

Every primitive society has its traditional annual fertility rites in celebration of the coming of spring. In the ecology of the concrete campus, it is Sigma Chi's orgiastic Derby Day.

A psych student who's getting B plusses explained, "Throughout man's life, in his relationships with the opposite sex, he constantly harbors the (well-founded) feeling that all women are making a fool of him. The degrading and ludicrous tasks set for the sorority women by the men of Sigma Chi symbolize man's superiority over woman. He is able to assert his mastery, and feels, subconsciously, that this partly compensates for the continual misery and insecurity inflicted by the female of the species."

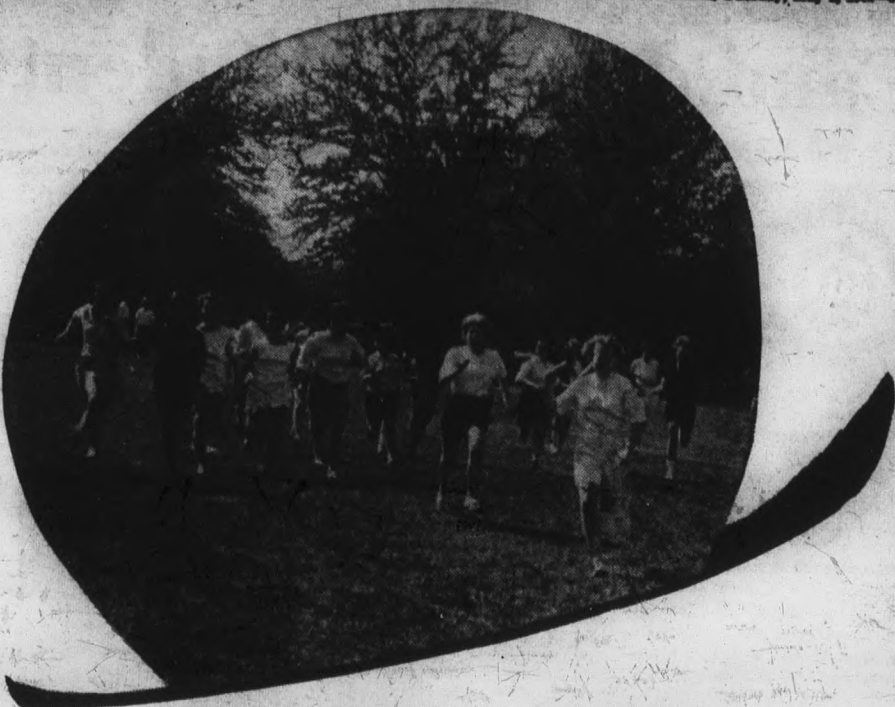

The professed objective of Derby Day has nothing to do with this anthropo-sociological theory, but is based on a widely held concept of collegiate fun and havoc.

One of the Sig's in charge was heard to remark, "It was a hell of a lot of trouble setting up this farce, but oh my, isn't it gratifying to see the joyous expressions on the girls' beaming faces!"

Probably the feature events were the efficiency fashion competition and the mystery event. Each sorority was attended in their "stall" by a stable boy provided by Sigma Chi. In the fashion contest, teams of three girls dressed their stable boys in tres-chic ensembles from the Salvation Army clothing mart. Each stable boy's feminine attire included Florida falsies (grapefruits) which proved quite messy when squeezed.

For the mystery event, each sorority had been instructed to bring a tool kit. At Fort Hunt the girls were confronted with a dilapidated Studebaker, and instructed to tear it down, the girl having collected the most parts to be declared winner for her sorority. Wandering Greek Deanne Slemmer with only "one lousy pair of pliers . . . THAT's a tool kit???" wandered off with first place and a quaint assortment of 24 rusty automotive parts, 10 more than second-place rival "Crowbar" Crumlish, who had all the biggest parts, but not the most.

The Kappa Delta's marched away proud champions of Derby Day 1962.

DERBY DAY

HEY HEY ALL THE WAY down Aaron's chin—The Apemen sloshed their way through 40 glasses of foam in record time, BUT last year's keg killing champions got caught pouring beer under the table this year.

THE FLOOR SHOW IS FREE! The not-so-stable stableboys staged this spontaneous can-can after being decked out speedily with grapefruits and other female accoutrements in the efficiency fashion competition.

Candidates For Student Council Offices

Bob Aleshire

Bob Aleshire is running for Advocate of the Student Council. Bob is the current president of Old Men and Order of Scarlet honorary. He has been vice president of Old Men and the Students for Better Government political party. He has also been chairman of Student Activities Fair, publicity chairman of Campus Combo, administrative assistant to the president of the Student Council, treasurer of the Ensonian Debate Society, chairman of the Student Council Delegation to the Model UN, as well as serving on the Dorm Council of Adams Hall. Bob has participated in school activities as a member of the Varsity Debate Team, Pi Delta Epsilon Journalism honorary, representative to Summer Carnival, member of the International Students Society, publicity director of Alpha Theta Nu Scholarship Honorary, Delta Sigma Rho Forensic Honorary and has won a Student Council Certificate of Appreciation.

Bob believes that there should be a comprehensive analysis of the University's income and expenditures with emphasis on the part the Council and student body could take to promote University income. He advocates the creation of a Student Planning Board comprised of members of the Council and others who would petition for the position. The Board would operate as a liaison with the administration, getting Council and student opinion and suggestions on proposed administration policy and innovations. He would investigate the "dead wood organizations" on campus and revoke their charters if they were not fulfilling their functions. He believes that he could interest local civic groups to underwrite the cost of the rental of automatic voting machines for Council elections. He would hold hearings open to the student body on any proposed referendums. He would very much like to see political parties get under way. He would closely supervise newly-formed organizations to ease their way by any means possible.

Judy Allen

Judy Allen is a candidate for Student Union Board Chairman. In the past she has served as president of the Student National Education Association, Inter-Sorority Athletic Board and Booster Board. She has also held other offices in these organizations. She has been the University's Martha Washington and has occupied the positions of May Day publicity chairman, treasurer of Chi Omega and Student Directory chairman.

Judy now holds the offices of Homecoming Pep Rally and Float Parade chairman and is treasurer of Delphi.

Judy would like to do a housecleaning job on the Student Union Annex and put up signs on all the office doors. She would like to lengthen the Union hours at night to provide study space. She would also like to see the students have a place to go during the afternoon hours when the first floor of the Union is closed. She would like to see the Activities Council be better organized with more frequent meetings.

Woodruff Bentley

Woody Bentley is a candidate for the office of Treasurer. He transferred to the University from Trinity College in his junior year after serving two years with the regular army in Europe. His qualifications include: program chairman of the Cultural Foundation, Arnold Air Society, Ensonian Debate Society, and one year of accounting at the University.

Woody would like to end a system of what he terms "lackadaisical accounting" by requiring that sales slips be turned in attached to the vouchers in order for there to be any reimbursement. He would like to see the part-time students and the commuters become more interested in University activities. This can best be accomplished through a long-range publicity campaign and an integrated program. He favors Activities Council supervision over organizations bringing in outside speakers in order to avoid conflicts. He has been an active member of the Cultural Foundation and would like to promote a series of speakers including both public and University figures.

Sam Blate

Sam Blate is campaigning for the post of Lower Division Columbian College Representative. His qualifications are these: ROTC assistant corps photographer, flight representative and special assistant to ROTC newspaper. He is a member of Arnold Air Society. He has written the article on Phi Sigma Delta Fraternity, appearing in the IFC newspaper, worked on the Potomac magazine's poetry and prose staffs, is a member of Hillel and is the cadet executive officer of the Fairfax squadron Civil Air Patrol.

Sam would like to institute a Lower Division Council. He would have representatives from each fraternity and sorority as well as those from the various dorms and independent groups. He intends the Council to serve as an advisory committee and an open forum to determine the attitudes of the Lower Division. He would like to encourage all members of the Lower Division to join Big Sis and Old Men. He would set up a guidance and tutoring program, and intends to help the Freshman Director in organizing and administering Orientation Week.

Priscilla Bloom

Priscilla is a candidate for Lower Division Columbian College Representative. Priscilla has held the office of president of the Phi Sigma Sigma pledge class, and is currently on the Strong Hall Dorm Council, publicity chairman of Strong Hall, and has been on the Publicity Committee of Career Conference and Colonial Cruise. She is also assistant secretary of Booster Board and assistant Pledge Mistress of Phi Sigma Sigma.

Priscilla would like to institute the system of the election of class officers for the freshman and sophomore class. She also plans a Lower Division Council with the Student Council representative as chairman and delegates from the dorms, foreign students and other groups. She proposes an investigation of publications to evaluate the degree of difficulty of each job and a pro-rating of payment and commission revenues accordingly. She believes that the international students should have a closer connection with the University community. She also advocates the appointment of an assistant to the president of Council from the Cultural Foundation to help correlate their activities with that of the Student Council.

Lee Deschamps

Lee Deschamps is a candidate for Publicity Director. He has been president of AEPI's pledge class. Lee has been vice president of the University Russian Club and house manager, treasurer and vice president of PiKA. Lee has also participated in Old Men and Alpha Theta Nu. He has worked 20 hours or more at part-time jobs every semester that he's been in school.

Lee would like to institute a car-pool system for commuters to help alleviate the tremendous parking problem. He would like to sell ads for the radio station in advance and use the revenue to purchase the necessary equipment to increase their broadcast range. He believes in the instituting of a Haze Week for incoming freshmen as one way to generate school spirit, teach the freshmen about the University and make them value it more. He would like to erect a black-background bulletin board with push-in white letters in front of the Student Union for organized announcement of dates, times and places of each week's events. He would like to see increased publicity for the events at Lisner Auditorium and the inclusion of student prices. He believes in using novel gimmicks to characterize a publicity campaign.

Bill Dierks

Bill Dierks is running for the office of Student Activities Director. He has served as the vice-president of Phi Sigma Kappa, and held the same post in Young Republicans. He has worked as a student assistant for intramurals and on the Student Directory staff.

Bill would like to improve the functioning of the Activities Council by creating better publicity for petitioning, maintaining the files of past chairmen to be used as a reference, and prompt reports from activities chairmen. He would like the treasurer or comptroller and the designated purchasing agent to attend all Activities Council meetings where chairmen are ready to submit a budget. He would like the chairmen's choices for sub-chairmen to be reviewed by the executive committee of the Activities Council.

John Diesem

John Diesem is a candidate for Program Director. He is a member of the Varsity Debate Team, Order of Scarlet, Troubadors, and served as May Day Queen Voting Chairman, and Publicity Director of the "Cave Dwellers." He is a ROTC color guard commander, flight sergeant at Pershing Rifles, Arnold Air Society member, Dean List student, and past publicity co-chairman of the Activities Fair.

John expects to have a comprehensive schedule of activities for the coming year prepared by the first of July. He would like to see the Program Director investigate the various possible activities in order to prevent conflicts. He would try to persuade one of the conflicting organizations to switch their program to another date. He feels that he has had experience in a lot of campus groups so that he can anticipate problems in advance. Since he is an independent, he feels that he would have no conflicting allegiance in the scheduling of the University program.

Leah Figelman

Leah Figelman is a Program Director candidate whose qualifications are as follows: Cultural Foundation member, and member of Tassies, charter member of Sigma Delta Tau, its scholarship chairman and secretary. She has worked on Strong Hall Dormitory Council and as HATCHET Senior staff reporter.

Leah would like to plan a program that is even throughout the entire year instead of the few program clusters that now exist. She would like to keep a file of the difficulties encountered by the various activities to be used for future reference. Another file, organized by category, should be maintained, i.e., the hiring of bands. She believes that by early planning she can set up a program that stretches uniformly throughout the entire year. As it presently stands some events get buried under the avalanche of late semester programs.

Marty Gersten

Marty Gersten is campaigning for the position of Comptroller. He has one year of formal training in accounting, and three years accounting experience working for the US Department of Internal Revenue. He is the assistant comptroller of the Student Council, comptroller of Campus Combo, and business manager of the Cherry Tree. He is a member of the Order of Scarlet, Alpha Theta Nu, Young Democrats, Old Men, Alpha Epsilon Pi (of which he is treasurer) and the Co-Chairman of the Career Conference.

Marty views the functions of Comptroller as broken down into two specific categories—as a fiscal officer and as a Council member. He would like to keep a very close control over the financial dealings of the various activities by requiring weekly reports, reviewing all contracts before they are signed, co-signing contracts with the activities chairmen, reviewing all budgets and keeping all books open to spot auditing. He favors an operative Council store. As a Council member he favors an activities fee if it would be used to perfect current activities rather than add new ones to the calendar. He would like the Council to have more of a part in planning orientation week and better coordinated publicity.

Othan Gilbert

"The Man With Experience" is running for Student Council Treasurer with such experience as thirty-nine hours of Accounting and related Business Administration courses offers. He has served as president, vice-president, treasurer, secretary, and rush chairman of his fraternity, Sigma Chi.

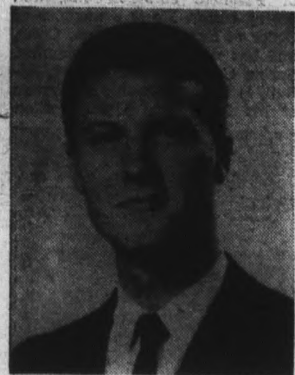

Othan would like to see the comptroller and the treasurer serve as checks upon each other by requiring their co-signatures on all

Their Platforms And Qualifications

approved vouchers and checks. He as yet does not know the specific differences between the functions of comptroller and treasurer as set up by the referendum and the Student Life Committee decision but he feels his extensive accounting experience will enable him to acclimate himself.

Tom Guterman

Tom Guterman is running for School of Government representative. He lists his qualifications as Varsity golf team, and Campus Combo, Homecoming and Colonial Mardi Gras experience. He has also been parliamentarian and historian of Tau Epsilon Phi and their Emanon Representative.

Tom would like to establish a council within the School of Government. He would set up office hours when students could consult with him or instruct him as to their desires in the Student Council. He believes that the Foreign Students Association should have a specific representative on the Student Council. He would like to investigate the possibility of having voting machines used in Council elections.

Steve Haenel

Steve is running for member at large. Steve has served as Vice President of Tau Epsilon Phi fraternity. He has also served as pledge warden and member-at-large for his fraternity. Steve has participated in Campus Combo, Colonial Mardi Gras, Booster Board, Old Men and is currently a member of Gate and Key.

As member at large Steve would like to work for an elected council for each individual school. He supports an activities fee as well as increased recognition of cultural Foundation activities. He would like to see the Council aid the foreign students in their International night program. He also plans to look into setting up an area universities discount plan for students at local merchants. Finally, Steve plans to give Welling Hall activities more recognition and publicity.

Jeff Hoffman

Jeff Hoffman is a candidate for Activities Director. A member of the Student Council as Lower Columbian College Representative, Jeff also serves as Interfraternity Council Representative, and has been sub-chairman of Homecoming, Campus Combo, Hi-Ball, and Colonial Cruise. He has also served on the Mardi Gras Refreshment Committee and as an associate editor of the Student Directory. Jeff has participated in Old Men, HATCHET Staff, Cherry Tree Staff and Career Conference Staff.

Jeff proposes an activities fee for full-time day students. He would make it optional for part-time and graduate students. They could subscribe to the group rate or buy their tickets individually to the various events. He would require attendance of the heads of each activity at Activity Council meetings and automatic impeachment for those chronically absent. He proposes a definite time to be set for semi-weekly meetings with reports submitted by each activity previous to the meeting. Those activities with difficulties would be heard, discussed and evaluated by the group. He would require that all groups submit monthly programs to the Program Director. He would closely supervise the Publicity Director and work with him, letting him know about the various upcoming events that might require publicity.

Allyn Kilsheimer

Al Kilsheimer is a candidate for Engineering School Representative. He is currently president of American Society of Civil Engineers and is vice president of Old Men and Alpha Epsilon Pi. Al also serves on the Board of Editors of Mechelectiv, the Engineering school publication and represents Mechelectiv at national convention. Al has held the offices of registrar of Old Men, rush chairman of AEPi, represented ASCE to Mechelectiv and has been invited to pledge Theta Tau. Al participated in all intra-mural sports and is a member of Order of Scarlet and Alpha Theta Nu.

Allyn would like to make the Engineering School a more integrated part of the University. He would also like to see the University participate in Engineering School activities such as Engineers' Day and Engineers' Ball. He believes that better participation can be created through better publicity in the Engineering School and through his own personal contacts among engineering students and with the Engineers' Council. He would like to see the indiscriminate rescheduling of classes avoided so that the four or five hour breaks between classes could be eliminated. He would like to establish a tutoring service where engineers could help other students in math and science. He would create a placement committee composed of engineering seniors, graduates, faculty members and Engineer Council members to aid engineers and science majors in finding career opportunities.

Anita Lazar

Anita Lazar is running for Lower Division Columbian College Representative. She has worked on Homecoming and Fall concert ticket committees, Cherry Tree, has been president of Alpha Epsilon Phi's pledge class and editor of her sorority.

Anita would like to initiate periodic referendums in order to better represent the dominant position in the Lower Division. She proposes the establishment of a Lower Division Council. There would be specific elections for Greeks and independents. The Council would serve as a policy board and also plan events such as mixers and dances.

Harold Levy

Harold is a candidate for Program Director. He is currently vice president of IFC and has served as IFC social chairman. He has been chairman of Campus Combo and pledgemaster, rush chairman, and scholarship chairman of Phi Sigma Delta. He has also participated in Old Men and WRGW, and is a member of both Phi Eta Sigma Honorary and Alpha Theta Nu Honorary.

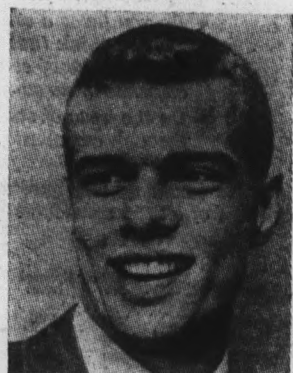

Harold plans to publish a tentative calendar as early as possible during the summer. He intends to use the past calendar as a source and contact all organizations to determine their various programs. He visualizes the office of Program Director as being the clearing house for all events. With the backing of the Student Council and the Student Life Committee he proposes to veto certain activities if they are in conflict with another program which has been previously scheduled and is of greater interest to the University student body as a whole.

Ken Rietz

Ken Rietz is campaigning for the office of Freshman Director. He is IFC social chairman and has served as Mardi Gras sub-chairman, Homecoming sub-chairman, pledge Class president of Phi Sigma Kappa and has worked on the Student Directory staff.

Ken plans to better organize the various orientation assemblies, especially the Student Council assembly. He would like to stress to the incoming freshmen the values derived from the participation in extra-curricular activities. He intends to work closely with Big Sis, Old Men, IFC, and Panhel in organizing Orientation Week. He would like to see the president of the Student Council appoint the Activities Director subject to the approval of the entire Council.

Steve Schaeffer

Steve Schaeffer is running for the chairmanship of the Student Union Board. His qualifications include: comptroller of the Colonial Cruise, secretary of the Young Democrats, and secretary of Alpha Epsilon Pi. He has also participated in the University Player and dance production Groups, Career Conference, Mardi Gras, Campus Combo, Hi-Ball, Old Men, Booster Board, and HATCHET circulation staff.

Steve would like to "make the Union into the hub of campus activity." He would like to hold as many activities as possible on Union property. He proposes a weekly check of the Union premises with recommendations submitted to the administration. He intends to have the Student Union Board meet once every two weeks. As a member of the Activities Council he would require weekly reports from all activities chairmen, comprehensive final reports and evaluatory reports on all participants in each activity to be kept on file for use in future reference. If an activity appears to be floundering he would propose the appointing of an Activities Council member as a liaison director to work in close cooperation with the chairman of the activity.

Ira Schandler

Ira Schandler is running for Council comptroller. Ira has held both the presidency and the vice presidency of Hillel and is currently serving as the vice president of Tau Epsilon Phi. Ira was also comptroller of Colonial Cruise, rush chairman and social chairman of TEP, founder of the Pre-Legal Society, and currently holds the office of co-chairman of Homecoming. Ira served on the executive board of the Religious Council and has participated in the Enosian Debate Society, the HATCHET copy staff, CCP, Old Men, Campus Combo sales, Colonial Mardi Gras as well as working part time for a CPA.

Ira intends to work out a yearly budget for each activity. He expects to supervise the acceptance of bids on the jobs sent out in the various activities. He favors an activities fee but would have it a small one. It would be optional for part-time and graduate students. Activities would be available at reduced prices for those who subscribe to the fee. He would like to include discounts at local stores as a benefit of the fee. He believes that the International Students Association should have a representative on the Student Council. He would also like to see the University create a weekend honoring the athletes including the intra-squad football game and the Welling Hall open house with a dance in the evening.

Paul Schwab

Paul Schwab is running for Publicity Director. His experience includes Order of Scarlet, Colonial Cruise Co-Chairman, Booster Board Staff, president of Phi Eta Sigma, member Alpha Theta Nu, Publicity Director: Homecoming Campus Combo, Old Men.

Paul would establish publicity directors for each dormitory, preferably determined by the individual dorm council but appointed if necessary. He would like to make the various school representatives to the Council responsible for the bulletin boards within their school. He intends to devote more attention to the graduate schools in hope of interesting them in activities. He would establish a permanent poster committee and use mascots in advertising campaigns. He would like to print up a booklet of publicity rules and suggestions to be distributed to all activities and organizations. He hopes to have a fluorescent bulletin board in front of the Union to publicize events to the night students. He favors the establishment of a Council supply store. He would require that requests for publicity help from the various activities be submitted in advance. He favors the creation of a specific bulletin board for classified ads. He would emphasize attention on the part-time students and the dorms in his publicity campaigns.

Their Positions On Campus Issues

Cliff Stearns

Cliff Stearns is running for the office of Engineering Representative to the Student Council. His qualifications include: Davis Hodgkins House manager, Engineer's Council, secretary of Theta Tau, Arnold Air Society, Order of Scarlet. He is in ROTC and a member of Old Men and Sigma Tau.

Cliff would like to see the Engineering school take a more active part in University life. He would like to explain the feelings and actions of the Student Council to the engineers in order to promote a desire to participate. He feels the best means of doing so is through personal contacts with the students collectively and the Engineering Council and by posting Student Council minutes on bulletin boards in the Engineering School. He feels that intramurals is one method of increasing engineer participation.

Linda Stone

Linda Stone is campaigning for the Student Council office of Member-at-Large under the slogan "Responsible jobs done well." Her qualifications include two years as a varsity debater, chairman of the Cultural Foundation, Student Council proxy, HATCHET

• EACH OF THE candidates questioned by the HATCHET Board of Editors was asked four questions on current Student Council issues during the course of the interview. Their answers showed their degree of awareness of campus problems, their ability to present the views of their prospective constituents on an issue, and their general orientation in student activities.

The questions asked were:

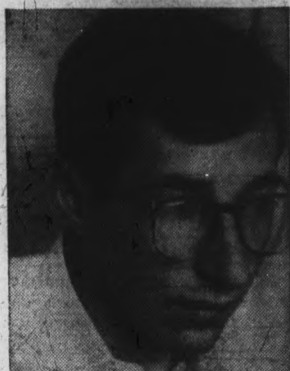

- Do you favor a student activities fee?
- Do you think that the Student Council should take stands on national issues?
- On the issue of co-chairman vs. single chairmen for campus activities, do you favor all, some or no co-chairmanships.
- On the issue of students receiving pay for their work in student activities either through commissions or profit-sharing plans, do you feel that this should be continued?

The candidate was questioned further on the details of his stand on each issue. The basic opinions of all the candidates questioned appear in the following table.

Richard Zellner

Richard Zellner is running for the position of Freshman Director. He has served in the capacity of Potomac editor-in-chief, and poetry editor. He is a member of Order of Scarlet, Old Men, Crew, and has worked on Homecoming, Spring Concert, Fall Concert, Hi-Ball, is the Scholarship Chairman of his fraternity, Alpha Epsilon

Richie is running on a platform of "real organization in orientation." He proposes a more unified schedule of events during Orientation Week with the elimination or shortening of the relatively unimportant events and the addition of such programs as a scholarship-study program presented by Phi Eta Sigma and an extra-curricular activities forum. He would like to encourage all students to meet with their assigned faculty advisors during Orientation Week. He would like to extend the welcoming service provided by Old Men and Big Sis to include second semester entrants. As a member of the Activities Council he intends to maintain close supervision on all activities and try to help implement a more effective publicity program.

staff reporter, and consistent Dean's List student.

Linda would like to see the establishment of an intercollegiate committee to coordinate our Student Council activities with those of the other area schools. She sees the Member-at-Large's primary function as taking over those special activities undertaken by the Council. She feels her experience on the Cultural Foundation enables her to adequately represent their interests on the Council but considers her job as being a representative of the entire school.

perpetual motion?

No! But scientists and engineers at Ford's research and scientific labs do deal in perpetual notions—and they have more than a few about what might be commonplace in the future, some of them just as startling.

Studies at Ford involving new energy sources and improved materials may help bring jet-propelled cars with gyro stabilizers... automatic driving controls... flying automobiles and wheel-less vehicles that glide on a cushion of air... vehicles propelled by atomic energy... plastics with the strength of conventional metals... adhesives that replace welding... radar and other electronic controls to assist or replace the driver in many situations.

Basic studies in these and other fields are just part of a continuing program of progress aimed at reinforcing Ford's leadership through scientific research and engineering.

Dean Kayser Plans Retirement; Made Historian, Professor Emeritus

by Karen Koenig

• DR. ELMER LOUIS KAYSER, dean of the Division of University Students, has been named University Historian. President Carroll, who made the announcement, said that "We are fortunate indeed to have a man of Dr. Kayser's scholarly ability, experience, and dedicated interest in the University in this new post." At the same time, the date of Dr. Kayser's retirement as Dean of the Division of University Students was set as September first of this year. This will terminate a 45 year span as a University administrative officer.

Dr. Kayser will continue in his faculty rank as professor of history and will continue to teach in the fields of European civilization and ancient history.

As Historian, he plans to begin work on a full-length history of the University. "Our aim," Dr. Kayser says, "is to bring back within the University's reach and control either the historical material itself or the knowledge of where it can be found and of what it consists. We will seek original material wherever possible, and where not, transcripts, photostats, or microfilms will be collected." Dr. Kayser feels that the history will be completed before the University's 150th anniversary in 1971.

After over 45 years in the University, as both a student and an instructor-administrator, dean of University Students, Elmer L. Kayser began his reminiscing. Without notes, but with frequent references to old HATCHETS, commencement programs, and Cherry Trees, he spoke of the changes that he had seen in the University.

When Dean Kayser came here to teach in 1917, the University plant consisted of two small buildings on the lot where the library now stands. There was a faculty of 27, and a student body of around 400. "Today we have grown to a student body 10,000 strong, and eight blocks of university land."

Dean Kayser's reminiscing took the form of critical analysis. He made an evaluation that the student body was "less mature— younger all over, less attentive to personal appearance—sloppy—and getting progressively more informal." He feels that students have lost the power to communicate through both spoken and written language, and suggested that this was, perhaps, the fault of an environment that stressed the spectator rather than the participator.

In a scholastic line, Dean Kayser noted that students are more exclusively interested in the present than in the purely contemporary. Their interest in the classics has been overcome by perhaps the tension that is so intensely felt today.

On the subject of student activities Dean Kayser expressed the idea that students had less ingenuity in organizing programs for their own intellectual stimulation and enjoyment. He said that we have become "spectators rather than participants and doers." In general:

On the Junior IFC—may be started, but it has to have the inherent vitality to see it through for more than one year before it can be called successful. On the faculty—they seem to get younger every year . . . or maybe I'm getting old. On student drinking—moderation prevents prohibition. On student drama—all the more power to them . . . drama was the big thing when I was a student here. There were ten or twelve separate organizations—each dedicated to a different form of dramatics—the one act play, the musical, the farce . . . just everything. On student participation—where is there evidence of any—students helped the University build the "tin tabernacle" back in the 1920's. On the future—I expect that the University has a lot of growing still to do. Almost wish that I could stay through the whole process.

Dean Kayser is an institution of his own within the University. He has become a part of it through constant association. As an administrator, he has held the offices of Secretary of the University, Marshal of the University, Director, and then Dean of the Division of University Students, and Director of the School of Government. His participation in University Affairs has been extended to the Alumni Association.

Throughout his career here in the University, Dean Kayser has always taught European History; Current History and occasionally Speech and Political Science.

Dean Kayser has written two books—The Grand Social Enterprise and A Manual of Ancient History, and is co-author of another, Contemporary Europe. He has written articles for encyclopedias, periodicals, journals, and book reviews.

Teaching and writing are only two of the professions that Dean Kayser has followed. He was for a time a radio commentator. He did a series of broadcasts dealing with the background and significance of the Munich crisis. Later he gave a weekly broadcast on foreign affairs.

Dean Kayser was born in Georgetown, August 24, 1896. He attended public schools and graduated from Western High School. He entered the University and graduated with the degree of Bachelor of Arts, the Bachelor's Diploma in Education, the Gardiner Hubbard Prize in History and the First Davis Prize in Public Speaking. In 1918, he received the degree of Master of Arts, writing his master's essay in the field of medieval history. In 1932, he received a doctorate in Philosophy from Columbia University. The University conferred upon him in 1948, the honorary degree of Doctor of Laws.

Dean Kayser is a member of Sigma Phi Epsilon, Omicron Delta Kappa, Phi Gamma Nu, Delta Phi Epsilon, Gate and Key, Cosmos Club, Advertising Club, and the National Press Club.

• MICHAEL HART was awarded the Arnold Air Scroll, given annually to the basic cadet who has achieved an outstanding academic record, at the awards dinner of the Carl Spaatz Squadron of the Arnold Air Society, April 30.

Outstanding Angel award went to Miss Jessica Byczynski for her efforts with Angel Flight, the female counterpart of ROTC, while Major Gagnier, squadron advisor, was recognized for his work with the Society. Miss Magdalena Gorell received the Lt. Colonel's insignia for placing second in the "Miss Little Colonel" contest.

Among those present at the dinner were General Carl Spaatz for whom the organization is named, and Lyle Wilson, chief of the Washington bureau of United Press International.

Council Elections

• VOTING FOR Student Council elections will be held: Wednesday, May 2, from 8:30 am to 8 pm; Thursday, May 3, from 8:30 am to 8 pm.

The results will be announced at the May Day Honor Court Friday night, May 4, at 8:30 in Lisner Auditorium. Admission is free and all students are urged to attend.

Akdes Kurat To Address Two University Classes On Turkey

• DR. AKDES NINET KURAT, a foremost Turkish historian, and recognized European scholar, now in this country on a NATO research grant, will speak to two University classes during his stay in Washington.

Tonight, in his first lecture, Dr. Kurat will deal with "The Turkish Peoples in Russia," at 5:45 in Monroe 102, and Thursday his subject will be "Russian-Turkish Relations," at 9 pm in Library 1-C. These talks are open to all interested students and faculty.

Dr. Kurat, a professor of Turkish and Russian history at the University of Ankara, was born in Russia and educated in Turkey and Germany. He specializes in the history of Turkish relations with Russia and the United States, the latter being the subject of his archival search under the NATO grant at Stanford's Hoover library and at the National Archives and Library of Congress in Washington.

The lectures this week will be drawn from Dr. Kurat's background as the author of one major book on Russian-Turkish relations and several large works concerned with aspects of this subject.

Engineering Alumni

• THE UNIVERSITY Engineering Alumni Association will bestow its annual Distinguished Alumnus Award on Delmer C. Ports, vice-president of Jansky and Bailey, a subsidiary of the Atlantic Research Corporation, May 8, at 8:15 pm in Lisner Lounge. Mr. Ports will deliver the Frank Howard Lecture entitled "Satellite Communications." The Frank Howard Lectures, established by Trustee Frank Harris, are an annual University event.

“You’ve got to expect punishment out there. Some days it’s worse than others. You get it from all sides. When you’re hit, you know it—especially in the face. I learned a long time ago not to trust anything but a REMINGTON. Those roller combs suit me fine. Give me the closest shave I ever got without ruffling the bruises.”

The closer you try to shave, the more irritated you’re likely to get. Only Remington®—because of its adjustable roller combs—allows you to shave closer more comfortably, more safely. Try it.

REMINGTON SELF-POWERED LEKTRONIC Shaver with exclusive roller combs. Shaves without a cord. Frees you from sinks, outlets, bathroom tie-ups. Powerful sealed-in cells recharge on shaver’s own charging stand for shave after shave without a cord. Also: Remington Roll-A-Matic® plug-in model with roller combs. Both are now being featured at your college or university store.

On The Nation's Campuses

● THE FASTEST-GROWING academic institution in America these days is the student union (a term derived from the Oxford Union, the famous British debating society, which was the forerunner of the modern student union), a campus pleasure dome that combines the best features of the USO, the PX, and New York Lincoln Center for the Performing Arts. Fifteen years ago there were only 90 unions in the country. Today there are more than 600, with another 200 on the drawing boards or in the bricks-and-mortar stage.

Across the land there is hardly a campus union worth the name without some bowling alleys, billiard tables, browsing libraries, student lounges, meeting rooms, restaurants, cafeterias, and art galleries. Other unions have rifle ranges, theaters, ballrooms, beauty and barber shops, and travel agencies.

For a super-plus center one can look at the vast arts-and-crafts center at the University of Minnesota (where students build everything from boats to bongo drums), the swimming pool at Tulane which features push-button pool-side snack service; the eight-store shopping center at Oklahoma State, the 100-car parking garage at the University of California Medical Center in San Francisco; the spectacular views of the Rockies and Great Salt Lake from the Panorama dining room at the University of Utah, and the marble-pillared main lounge at Pittsburgh.

At some schools, the bulk of this comes from student fees (ranging from $4 to $30 annually). But Purdue's 24-hour-a-day, $15 million Memorial Union complex (almost nine-times as large as the White House) grosses about $2 million a year from its 257-room hotel, 24 billiard tables, 14 bowling alleys, two theaters, food facilities, and barber shop.

To critics of campus "frills," money spent on student unions is pure educational waste. They point out that the $60 million that colleges spend on their unions each year would pay the salaries of 8,000 professors or provide 18,750 more National Merit scholarships.

Some colleges, particularly in the Ivy League, prefer to spread their social and cultural facilities all over the campus, rather than concentrate them in one building. Harvard, which opened America's first union in 1901, has been using it for a dining hall since 1930).

Tuskegee Institute

● This Alabama all-Negro college may drop its race qualifications for entrance soon. If the student body approves, a proposal will be forwarded to the Board of Trustees requesting a change in the stipulation of the school's charter that all entrants at Tuskegee be colored. Edward Willis, co-chairman of the Race Relations Committee said that a change in the character of the charter would require the approval of Governor John Patterson of Alabama and the state legislature.

Northeastern University

● If students at Northeastern are willing to pay about $10 a term beginning in the fall of 1964, they can have a new student center within two years, says the university's dean of students. If less than 75 percent are willing, the building won't receive top priority and won't be built for at least ten years.

Wayne State University

● In downtown Detroit free credits are given to college students who are veterans. Any student at Wayne who has amassed 18 months of military service gets eight hours of academic credit toward graduation. The university's director of veterans affairs says the reason for this bonus is that a man with a minimum of 18 months continuous service has had broadening experience which compares favorably with those offered in many elective courses. The veteran's outlook is supposed to be more mature than the high school student's and due to this military experience, the veteran makes an especially fine addition to the student body.

Santa Clara

● This school which a few weeks ago couldn't find a capable editor to replace the resigning one, now is in danger of forfeiting its student government. March 13 a meeting was held to decide on candidates for class and student body offices. Election committee chairman, Fritz Muller, read through the list of offices, announced that candidates should claim a petition when the appropriate office was called, then read through the list again. For the first time in the history of the university, no one declared himself for any office.

Juniata College

● At this Huntingdon, Pa. school the Student Senate has set up an Ogre Committee as a standing Senate Committee whose chief purpose is to act as a sounding board for the Senate, by making recommendations for changes and improvements in the college and community.

Temple University

● At Temple they have another interesting little committee—the Social Behavior Board—a body responsible to the Student Council for enforcing all University social behavior legislation.

University of Minnesota

● The University of Minnesota's student government seems to be thinking along the same lines as that of Temple. Couples in the union lounge were presented recently with small white cards bearing this message: "Avoid undue embarrassment to others and yourselves—DON'T make a public display of your affections." When Ivory Tower, campus newspaper columnist Vic Burton found a stack of the cards it set him to speculating: "Just imagine a moment, if you will, what would happen if this thing spreads. Picture Annie Glenn, dashing across the runway, arms outstretched, side-stepping newsmen and photographers, heading into the waiting arms of her husband, recently returned from orbit, when someone steps in front of her and hands her a little white card with the message: "Avoid undue embarrassment to others and yourselves—DON'T make a public display of your affections." After all if the twist is legal in public it seems hardly fair to outlaw PDA (public display affections) for the less athletic crowd.

Career Cues:

"An interest in student activities can pay you dividends later on!"

Gibson F. Dailey, Asst. to the President
George A. Fuller Company

"Extracurricular activities never really interested me... architecture and construction always did. It's a paradox, though, because as it turned out student activities gave me a big jump on my career in construction."

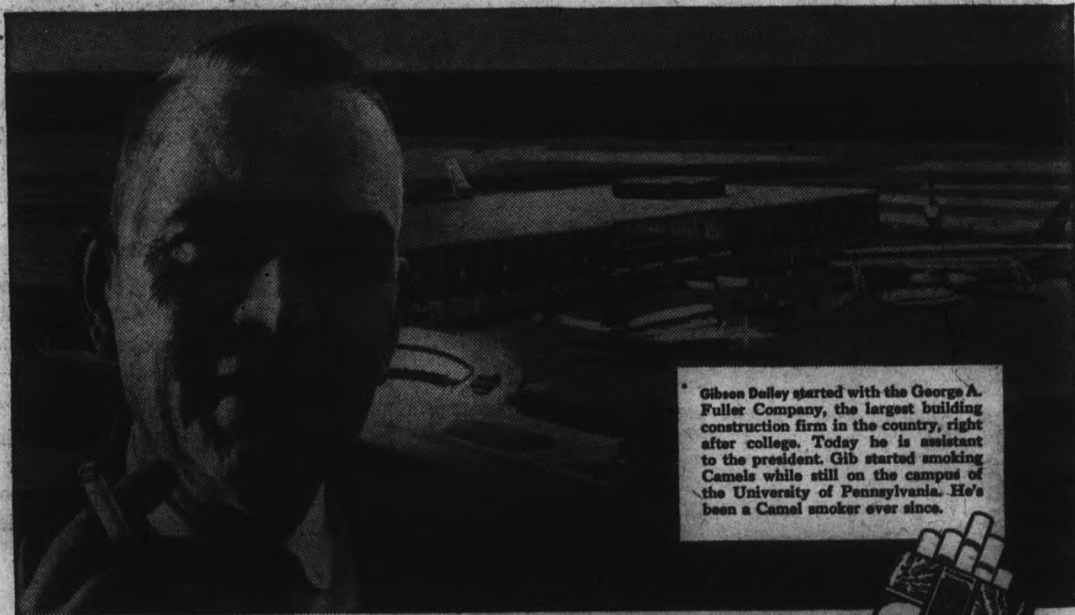

"Studies educated me. But college activities provided the confidence I needed to approach the business world. Looking back, it was these activities that really gave me my first knowledge of people, administration, leadership.

"Working for the college newspaper, fun magazine, and engineering bulletin taught me writing—a gift I use today in the promotion and getting of new business. Student Council brought the chance to work with other men—a daily occurrence now. Penn's theatrical group and engineering shows helped me relax in front of an audience then—and help me find my voice when I'm talking to large groups now."

"True, today's heavy college curriculum doesn't allow much time for activities. There wasn't much time for them in my day either. I burned a lot of midnight oil on architectural studies, but difficult as they were I still found time for student activities.—I'm mighty happy that I did."

"If you have time during the rest of your years in school to take an interest in activities—do it! It's certain to pay big dividends in an inspiring future in the business of your choice."

Gibson Dailey started with the George A. Fuller Company, the largest building construction firm in the country, right after college. Today he is assistant to the president. Gib started smoking Camels while still on the campus of the University of Pennsylvania. He's been a Camel smoker ever since.

Spiders, W&L Drop Buff; Lots Of Errors

• THE COLONIALS SPENT an unsuccessful weekend in Virginia as they dropped two Southern Conference games, bringing their league record down to 2 wins and 3 losses. On Friday, the Richmond Spiders staggered to a 12-11 win in 10 innings; then William & Mary silenced the Buff batsmen en route to a 2-0 triumph.

An error by 2nd baseman Bob Smith with the bases loaded in the bottom of the tenth gave the Spiders their win. There was one out when pinch-hitter Frank Griffith sent a ground ball to Smith, who proceeded to commit the 5th and final error for GW.

After trailing by scores of 3-0 and 7-3 in the early going, GW bounced back to take an 11-8 lead with a five-run outburst in the sixth inning. But relief hurler John Telepo held off the Colonials from then on while Richmond was tying the game in the seventh before winning out in overtime.

Colonials Outwit Spiders

GW outwit the Spiders 14-11, but the six errors enabled the winners to score five unearned runs, including the final one off reliever John Papanicolas. In between all these bobbles the Colonials still reeled off five doubleplays. But while driving in 11 runs, they stranded 15 runners on base.

Jim Farley, Papanicolas, and

CHOPPY WATER gave the Buff freshman crew more than enough trouble in Saturday's triangular race against American University and Drexel. The race was delayed from 1:30 until 4 in hopes that the wind and rough waves would subside. Photo by Walter Krug

Bill Brzezinski drove in seven runs, which almost matched the Richmond RBI total of eight. An interesting sidelight is that Brzezinski, a sophomore who also plays football, was used by Coach Reinhart at four different positions—third base, pitcher, right field, and catcher.

At Williamsburg on Saturday, the Colonials dropped their fourth game in a row as John Findlay scattered four hits, struck out five, and shutout GW 2-0.

Buff Netmen Sweep Tournament; Top Irish, Hoyas, Indians On Way

• FOR THE FIRST time in the five-year history of the Cherry Blossom tennis tournament, a local university emerged victorious as Coach Bill Shreve's sophomore-studded Colonial netmen trounced

Notre Dame, Georgetown and Indiana University.

Number one player Buddy Goeltz lost his second match of the season to Georgetown's Walter Kit, 6-1, 6-3, but rebounded on the final day to start the Colonials to victory with a come-from-behind win over Indiana's Gary Baxter, 6-8, 6-2, 7-5.

The rest of GW's squad took the cue from Goeltz and overpowered a strong Indiana team, 7-2, losing only one singles and one doubles match. GW had the title wrapped up before the doubles began.

On the opening day of the tourney, Goeltz was losing to Notre

Athletes Feted

• AT THE ANNUAL athletics awards banquet Jon Feldman, Dick Drummond and Lou DeSimone were cited. Jon was chosen as the outstanding basketball player, Dick as the outstanding football player and Lou as the outstanding senior football player.

Dame's Joe Brown 2-5. He rallied to win the next five games, and took the match 7-5, 6-0. Two doubles wins by the duos of Harvey Harrison and Jerry Rudy, and Steve Kahn and Mark Sherry gave GW a 6-3 win over the Irish.

Goeltz's loss at the hands of high school teammate Kit was the only one suffered by the Colonials on the second day as Georgetown was easily turned back by 8-1. Goeltz later teamed with Alan Green to win in doubles over Kit and John Wolfe, 6-4, 4-6, 9-7.

The Hoosiers hardly proved a match in the finals as the Colonials bettered their 1959 tie for first. In the consolation round, Georgetown handed Notre Dame its third straight defeat in the tournament with a close 5-4 win.
